NMSU offers many options for students seeking to broaden their knowledge of international issues. The following pages list the majors, supplemental majors, certificates, and minors with a significant international focus. In addition, all classes with a General Education or Viewing the Wider World designation are listed, and those that will be offered in Summer and Fall 2022 are noted. Other courses with international content that are offered within majors but are not designated as General Education or Viewing the Wider World classes are not listed here. International research and study programs are also included at the end of this document. For more information about study abroad programs, please see: <https://oel.nmsu.edu/educationabroad/>
